HOW IT ALL STARTED

2020

When the pandemic hit in Spring 2020, music festivals were cancelled until further noticed. Local educator Natalia Pardalis felt that there should be a way to continue safely so she approached different music teachers with the idea of an online festival. She had been the music mentor for different online music competitions both in Canada & Mexico so knew that the format could work for a more traditional festival. A committee was formed and the festival was quickly organized and there were entries from all over North America, South America and even from Germany.

FOLLOWING YEARS!

In 2021, Natalia Pardalis approached her record label about being the Platinum sponsor which they enthusiastically agreed to!

We are very excited to continue being hybrid this year - offering both online entities and in person for those in the lower mainland.

Our goal is to create an open music community and provide artistic opportunities to our music community both for professionals and inspiring musicians.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!

Maria's Record is proud to present this wonderful festival!

Congratulations to all of the students, their parents and teachers

Our Vocal adjudicator

As a pianist, vocalist, composer, sound designer, music director/conductor and vocal coach, Marguerite Witvoet has gained a reputation across Canada as a creative and versatile musician. Actively involved in the creation of contemporary opera and musical theatre, Marguerite also performs and conducts, composes and arranges music for theatre and film.

With a background in bel canto, Roy Hart and Estill voice, Marguerite's vocal approach encompasses an understanding of the physiology of vocal production as well as somatic embodiment and a depth of musical experience.

After over a decade teaching at Capilano University, Douglas College and Langara College (Studio 58), Marguerite is now focused on her private studio in East Vancouver. Working with a combination of intuition, keen observation and compassion, she inspires students to develop their unique voices as artists and creators.

Our Piano adjudicator

An active performer, clinician and adjudicator, Jane Hayes maintains a small private studio in White Rock/South Surrey. After leaving her KPU university position in 2020, Jane has been able to focus on her true loves - performing, recording, collaboration, coaching, adjudicating and private teaching. She continues to concertize, travel and record with the Turning Point Ensemble, Yarilo Contemporary Music Society, the Four Jays and the Vetta Chamber Players. Her latest accolades include a nomination for a Western Canada Music Award for "Four Jays - Live" and being named to CBC radio's list of top 22 CDs in 2022 for "The Smile of Maud Lewis - The Music of Nikolai Korndorf".

She is consistently praised as a brilliant communicator both as a pianist and clinician. Past President of the Canadian Music Festival Adjudicators' Association, Jane has always emphasized putting the "festive" into the festival experience for young students. The BC Conservatory of Music video-records her adjudications annually and edits and posts select videos online (for eg. <https://www.facebook.com/reel/1267186215012670>). One video on how to communicate sadness has already received over two million hits. As a teacher, she seeks to find what motivates each student and works with him or her to achieve the best possible demonstration of the musical talent that lies within.

Special Notes for In-Person:

Please arrive 10 mins early to sign in for your class - please be aware that there will/could be a class going on so be aware of your surroundings and act accordingly. There will be a check in list at the door - please find your name and sign in.

There is no warm up room so please come warmed up.

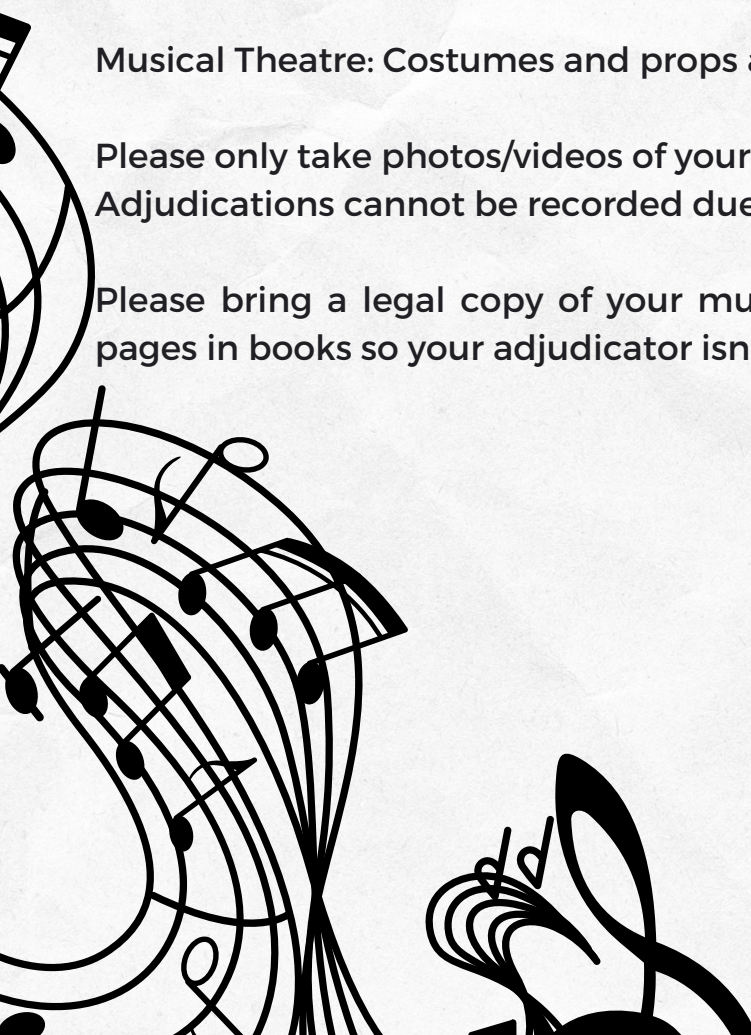

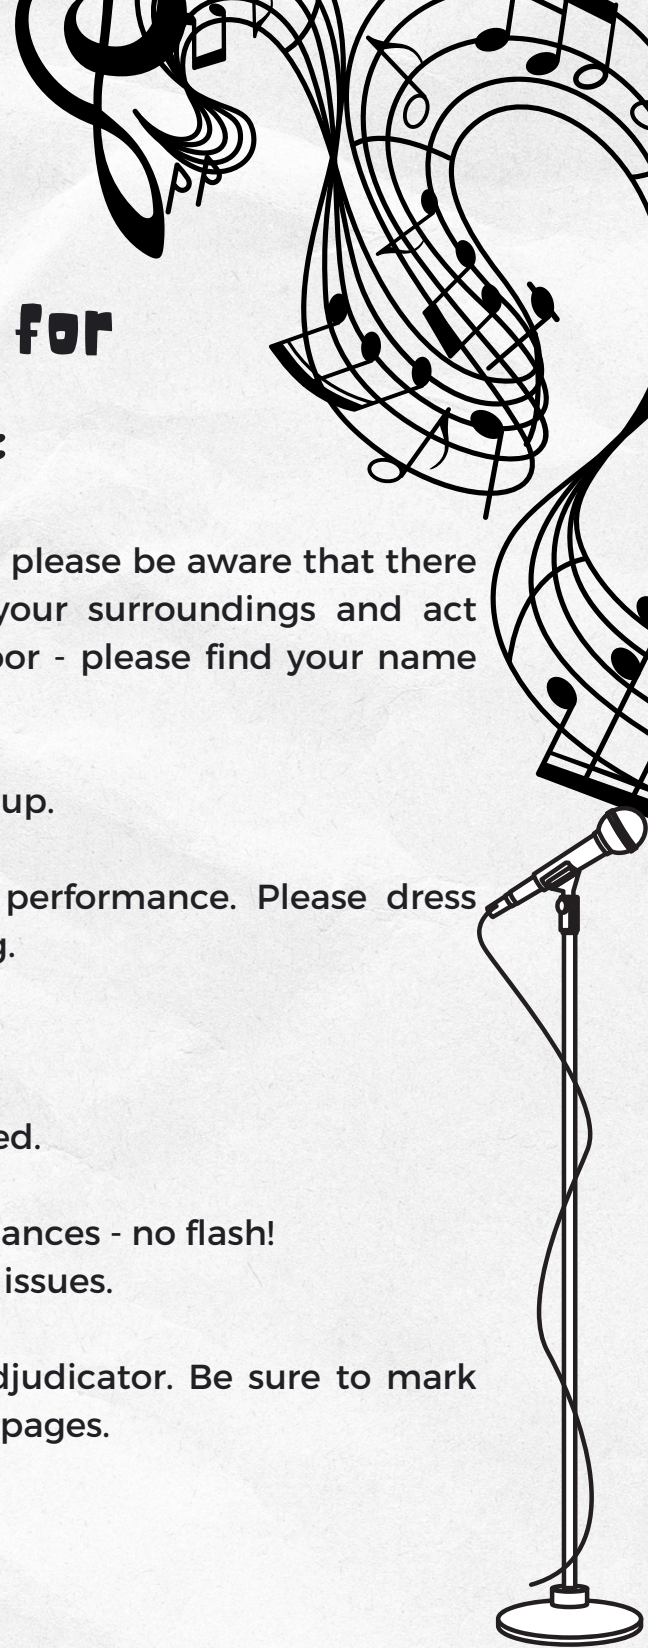

Please treat your performance as a professional performance. Please dress accordingly to the style of music you are performing.

Please make sure phones are on silent or turned off.

Musical Theatre: Costumes and props are encouraged.

Please only take photos/videos of your own performances - no flash!
Adjudications cannot be recorded due to copyright issues.

Please bring a legal copy of your music for the adjudicator. Be sure to mark pages in books so your adjudicator isn't hunting for pages.
